

Are you interested in joining an online study group about Australian Art History?

- Meet once a month via web conferencing at just $15 per meeting plus a $25 joining fee.
- Topics will be planned 4 months in advance with recommended images, readings and videos.
- Each month discuss set questions relating to the topic - add your own knowledge and views
- Topics will be varied - including different art periods, artists, artworks, art styles and media, overseas influences, responses to the environment
- Participants can recommend future topics for discussion.
- Post information and ideas (eg recommended exhibitions/articles etc) between meetings
- Join at any time

About the presenter/facilitator

Andrea Hope is the owner of Kiama Art Gallery on the beautiful South Coast of New South Wales. She has a BA in Professional Writing and a Graduate Certificate in Museum Studies from Deakin University (amongst other tertiary quals).

She's been an adult educator for many years, specialising in both art history and communication in the workplace.

Andrea conducts lectures on art history for community groups and regional galleries in the Illawarra, as well as face to face art appreciation programs in both Modern European art and Australian art history. She's also co-convened a number of visual art projects in the region, including a festival to celebrate the life of Lloyd Rees in Gerringong.

Andrea has written an online art history program about Modern Art history in Europe, and is now focusing on Australian Art History.

Why an online study group?

It's not always easy to access face to face interesting study groups, but this shouldn't prevent you from the opportunity to engage with others to learn more about Australian art and also contribute your knowledge and responses.

For more information and to register contact Andrea at kiamaartgallery@gmail.com

<https://www.australianarthistory.com/>

0402841638